

Calling all job-seeking IT students!

SydneyTalent is the University's latest initiative to bring outstanding employment opportunities to pre-graduates and graduates.

SydneyTalent is exploring a range of exciting full-time, part-time and contract IT-related employment opportunities with global heavyweights in information systems technology.

We are seeking motivated and enthusiastic students with skills and an interest in –

- IT project management
- ICT strategy/enterprise architecture
- Systems infrastructure
- IT support staff
- WINTEL support
- IT security expertise
- Networks and collaboration tools
- Programming

A massive expansion in information and communication technology fields is predicted that will add exponentially to the IT industry's skills deficit and require a reliable talent pipeline of highly skilled employees. SydneyTalent provides a pipeline between the University's highly-skilled pre-graduates and graduates and leading companies looking to expand their workforce.

CEO of SydneyTalent, Ms Anne Moore says, "The ICT sector was clearly not immune from the recession, but it is likely to emerge more quickly than other areas of business. The skills shortage in certain areas remains apparent and the industry need for talent in the longer term is forecast to outstrip supply."

To register with SydneyTalent and apply for specific roles, visit www.sydneytalent.com.au

But act fast – these are highly-sought roles with genuine industry leaders!